MARTIN'S OTHER MOMENTS.

It was the last minutes of the last segment on Leonardo da Vinci. And the Italian genius of so many parts had died, and his notes and writings and paintings had been scattered, like his entombed bones, into obscurity after death.

Martin, 10, activist, miniature muscle man, was watching the TV demise of one of civilization's giants, 400 years ahead of other men.

It may have been the hour, which was mid-evening, or that he was tired, but Martin said nothing when he left the room, his silence so eloquent you knew something was wrong.

Martin went to bed crying for a man nobody really knew. Some might say "he is a funny little boy."

I, biased and empathetic, think Martin has a sense of values. So does Les.

To do what is obviously right,

Waiting
To risk misunderstanding, over-

For a surer grasp of tomorrow
Waiting.

Randy Tumlinson Is Merit Semifinalist

Randy Tumlinson, Yoe High senior, has been named a semifinalist in the 1973 National Merit Scholarship Program, it was announced by Principal John Chubb.

Tumlinson is the second student in Yoe High history to attain the honor.

He is one of approximately 15,000 semifinalists among the nation's most academically talented high school seniors. They will compete for some 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1973.

The semifinalists received the highest qualifying scores in their states on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which was given last October to over one million students in about 16,600 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

Semifinalists must advance to finalist standing to be considered for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded.

RANDY TUMLINSON

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, and extra-curricular activities of the finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

ed next spring. Semifinalists become finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, confirming their high performance on a second examination, and providing information about their accomplishments and interests.

Names of the winners in the 1973 Merit Scholarship Program will be announced in the spring of 1973. Over 31,000 students have received Merit Scholarships in the 17 annual programs to date.

United Fund Has $9,000 Goal

A $9,000 goal has been set by Cameron United Fund officials for seven service agencies, beginning September 27.

Bruce Crook, chairman of the CUF for 1972-73, said that a house-to-house drive, chaired by L. W. Stroup, is scheduled in Cameron the evening of October 2.

Seven participating agencies include: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Community Center, Little League and USO.

Crook is serving as chairman of the downtown gifts drive. Stroup is first vice president of the United Fund board. Roy Engram is second vice president.

Board members include: Mrs. Ed Magre, Ladis Marek, Jr., William Kelm, Odell Biggs, William Whiteside and H. J. Litzman.

Alcoa To Restart Potline

Alcoa Company of America's Rockdale Works, the firm's biggest domestic smelter, will restore 30,000 tons of annual metal capacity about October 1 by restarting one of two idled potlines at the eight-line plant.

About 90 production, maintenance and other service employees will be recalled immediately, according to Fred P. Bergeron, Works manager.

Personnel on layoff are urged to contact the employment office, he said.

The plant's first reduction came in July, 1971 when the 30,000-ton capacity of No. 1 potline was idled. The second cutback, involving

No. 2 potline with similar capacity, occurred last May.

The production restoration, consistent with Alcoa's policy of matching production with overall demand, was prompted by an increasing need for sheet ingot at the firm's fabricating plants, Bergeron explained.

With the restart, Alcoa's domestic smelters will be operating at about 86 percent of installed capacity of 1,475,000 tons a year.

The rate currently is 84 percent, with seven of the firm's eight plants operating below their capacity. Alcoa and other aluminum producers began curtailing production in 1971 to fight oversupply and market price weaknesses.

The restoration will boost Rockdale Works' operating rate of 89 percent of its installed capacity of 275,000 tons a year.

"Restarting this potline is good news to all of us, of course," Bergeron said in an in-plant announcement to the employees. "With the broader base of metal production, we will be in a more competitive position with other Alcoa smelters for getting our share of business."

The plant manager reminded that Rockdale Works' cost-cutting efforts are still as important as ever.

"We must continue to trim costs where possible and reduce our cost per pound of metal to make this location one of Alcoa's most competitive," Bergeron said. "I have said before that we have the personnel, experience and know-how to regain our footing as a sound, economic operation. I solicit the thinking, ideas, and dedication of every employee to improve productivity from one end of the plant to the other, whatever the task."

"A lot of job security is riding on it."

Yoemen Brace For 'Battle Of Bell'

By Marilyn Hauk

The Cameron Yoemen will meet the Rockdale Tigers in their territory Friday night for the traditional "Battle of the Bell".

Cameron will be facing more depth against Rockdale than they had against Taylor and probably good balance as far as the running and passing attack.

Good size and quickness are characteristics of the Rockdale Tigers this year. Special attention will have to be paid to quarterback Backhouse and split end Agular. Defensively Ted Weems and Bobby Parker are two people to watch out for.

"We know they'll be ready for us after the upset last year," claimed Coach Cauley. "If we can correct our mistakes we made against Taylor and get more consistent on defense then it ought to be a good ballgame." But, depth and experience probably gives Rockdale the edge.

Two-Day Fiesta Set

Mexican Independence from Spain will be celebrated in Cameron this week just as it has been in Mexico for over 160 years. There will be a fiesta program, dancing and food on festival grounds across from the National Guard Armory for an anticipated crowd of 1,500 Mexican Americans and friends from throughout Central Texas.

The fiesta will be held Friday and Saturday, with food and crafts booths opening at 6 p.m.

Festival planners have rented concession booths to food and crafts businesses, and authentic Mexican food, pottery and baskets will be among the items offered for sale.

Two dances will be held, starting at 9 p.m. both days. Friday's dance will feature music by Dave Gutierrez of Austin and music Saturday night will be by Manning and the COs, also of Austin.

A special program is scheduled for Saturday night, with Simon Rangel Sr., president of the Mexican Patriotic Committee, in charge. Queen Lucy Corona will represent the United States, and Queen Paula Garcia will represent Mexico.

The program will include singing of Mexican and American hymns, presentation of the fiesta queens and the symbolic ringing of a bell by Rangel.

The celebration has been held in Cameron every year since 1926, when the Mexican Patriotic Committee was elected. Ten acres of land was bought west of Cameron for a permanent fair ground and baseball field.

Rattlers On Move, Small Boy Bitten

Carl Rubac, 17 month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rubac of the Salem community was rushed to St. Edward Hospital for treatment of a rattlesnake bite Monday afternoon. He was the sixth snake bite patient treated at local hospitals this summer. A hospital spokesman said he was released Tuesday in good condition.

The Rubac child was bitten on the chin by a small rattlesnake while playing in the yard. Although fields and woods are considered the most likely haunt of poisonous snakes, statistics show that a large percentage of all bites take place near homes.

Dale Moore, local Game Warden, said special care should be taken to avoid snake bites between now and cold weather. "We usually get a movement of rattlesnakes in the fall with cool or cloudy weather," Moore said. He said the northern or blackland areas of the county have a larger population of snakes than the sandy south area.

Moore suggested keeping yards clear of rock piles, trash piles, stacked lumber, tree stumps and other forms of debris as these often harbor rats and mice which form the principal food of most snakes. Dense, low growing plants may also supply cover for snakes.

If a poisonous snake is discovered close by, the best protection is to remain still until the snake has moved away. A snake is quick to strike at a moving object.

Moore said inexpensive snake bite kits are available at most drug stores.

He said in case of snake bite the victim should remain as quiet and calm as possible as muscular activity helps increase the spread of venom. He suggested submerging the affected area in ice water enroute to medical treatment.

Moore also said it was wise whenever possible to kill the snake and take it to the hospital for identification.

A book on poisonous snakes of Texas and treatment of bites is available from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept., Austin for .63 cents.

Luling Schedules New Wildcat In South Milam

Luling Oil & Gas Company of San Antonio has scheduled another wildcat in its drilling campaign in the Cherokee Navarro area of south Milam County. Late last week it filed intention to drill its No. 1 J. H. Yakesch, permitted to 6,100 feet, and believed to have the Austin Chalk as its objective.

Location of the Yakesch is on the east side of a 49 acre lease in John Williams Survey and approximately six miles southeast of Milano.

Drillsite will be 950 feet southwest of the Byron Rose No. 1 Herald Hood, discovery well in the Austin Chalk formation which Rose brought in as a 27.65 barrel per day producer last spring.

Luling Oil & Gas' new Yakesch wildcat follows the No. E - 1 H. H. Coffield which the company drilled about two months ago on a 224 acre lease in John Dunlop Survey. The Coffield was reported having tests run after it was drilled to 6,300 feet total depth, but no further information has been released about the wildcat.

School Trustees To Meet Thursday

The CISD board of trustees will hold their September meeting Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office at Ben Milam School.

The agenda includes a report from Davis McGill, financial advisor representing A. G. Edwards Co. in connection with the calling of the $1,235,000 bond issue. Title I personnel will also be elected.

Poise....

Poise. . .
It's good to see a Yoe grid team with the poise to break footballs away from opposition runners on the verge of scoring. Or to force fumbles and recover them.

Yoemen did this Friday night and upset a strong Taylor club favored to win the season's opener.

Poise is a part of courage, defined by Hemingway the novelist as "grace under pressure."
If Cameron players continue to demonstrate the cool head and gridiron courage to crack much larger players and beat them, in the vernacular, "fair and square," we don't have to worry much about football around here.

Lonely Conception....

Friends held a reception for sculptor James Brock in Temple the other day, the second such reception in three or four years. Temple's Friends of the Library also are inviting him to give a sculpting demonstration at a September meeting.
People are recognizing Brock's talent, which receives less than it should at home. But that is nothing new.
Cameron and many other small towns have ignored or in effect chased away more talent than any town could afford to lose. Or talent's very distinctness is subject for jealous ridicule worthy only of the talent's contempt.

We are not here to judge one another, but to appreciate what people bring to life.

For James Brock, it is the bronzed realism of a Western life passing to "dude ranch" status. For another, it might be a more diverse talent. For yet another, it might be just being that person.

The creative man usually leaves his work for a generation which knows it, if it is good, but which can only guess at its lonely conception.
Men like Brock are rare.

Proposed Tunnel Would Link Britain, France

By David Lawday

PARIS
A visionary French mining engineer, Albert Mathieu - Favier, once intrigued Napoleon with a scheme to bore a tunnel beneath the English Channel to link Europe's oldest rivals, France and Britain.
He envisaged two long undersea shafts from either coast meeting at an artificial island in mid-channel. Stagecoaches from Paris or London would change horses on the international island.
Take away the island and the stage coaches -- and the project which delighted Napoleon 170 years ago is now so close to fruition that it would be hard for the British or French to pull out.
A start on boring the long-debated "chunnel" is now expected to be made next summer.
This was revealed by the French and British governments, which gave the go-ahead for a final study on the project and pledged to sign an agreement setting out how the tunnel would be built and financed.
The French called the move "a decisive step in the realization of the tunnel," and even though the British appeared a little less ebullient it looked as though the digging machines would finally be called into action.
The plan is to gouge out three parallel tunnels beneath the chalk between the channel ports of Dover and Calais. The two larger outside shafts would be for high-speed rail traffic, and the third narrower shaft for servicing.
The Channel strait at that point is only 22 miles (35 kilometres) wide, but the actual tunnel would run some 35 miles (56 kilometres) after allowing for gradual gradients into the sea bed on either coast.
When the two governments launched preliminary discussions on the project eight years ago, the aim was to have the tunnel finished by 1978. Now, even if there are no further stumbling blocks, 1980 is the earliest possible finishing date.
For Britain, it would be a strange break with the past. The British have always sensed their true security in their geographical isolation.
Even now a vocal segment in Britain is bitterly opposed to the tunnel. These days the opponents do not talk so much of the security threat but of the enormous cost, and of the chance that technological progress in transport will make the tunnel an outdated relic before it is even completed.
Latest official estimates are that the project will cost $915 million, but this would almost certainly increase.
The French have good reason to be enthusiastic about the progress towards an actual start on the tunnel.

They foresee enormous economic benefits coming their way since much of Britain's trade with the rest of Western Europe - Britain enters the Common Market on Jan. 1 - would be channelled through northern France through the new direct undersea link.
Tourists would be able to drive their cars on to high speed trains at the tunnel mouths and drive off at the other end only 31 minutes later.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:
There was this farmer, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, who had trouble with his mail box. Somebody was always knocking it down or shooting holes in it or smashing it with a hammer and after he had replaced it 20 times -- that's right, 20 times -- he finally took action.
What he did was take it home with him every day. About an hour before the mail carrier was due he'd take it down and set it up, then when the mailman came he'd pick up his mail, mail box, and all and return to his house.
In this connection I read in the same paper that the telephone company reported that 11,000 pay phones in this country are put out of commission every day by people trying to rob the coin box or just ripping out the phone for the fun of it.
Clearly, what the phone company people ought to do is pick up their phone booths every night and take them home with them.
In this day and age, which is pretty much like every other day and age since man arrived, you don't solve problems by getting at the root cause, you dodge them, you out - last them; if you can't out last them you build an overpass over them; if that doesn't work, reoute the highway entirely or double-deck it.
If that doesn't work, come out against high taxes.
Vandalism, like bad colds, is just something there doesn't seem to be an answer to. And that farmer and the phone company ought to remember that it happens in lots of places, for example, in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in the Watergate building in Washington.
I have been reading about this bugging case and as uncalled - for as it was, I still don't understand it. What did those guys expect to learn? Both national conventions had microphones planted all over the place and the networks broadcast the activities to the world, but I still didn't learn very much.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fever Ticks Cause Cattle Quarantine

Senator Lloyd Bentsen is pushing for a two-pronged Federal attack against an outbreak of fever ticks that has caused the quarantine of movement of cattle in four Texas counties.
In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, Bentsen asked for additional funds to hire tick inspectors, traceback personnel and men to work cattle chutes for inspections.
In addition, the Senator has asked the Economic Development Administration to make a direct emergency grant to Texas for construction of livestock dipping vats.
Bentsen praised quick action by the Texas Animal Health Commission and the USDA in dealing with the outbreak, but said more help is needed to avoid a widespread infestation of the fever ticks from Mexico.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record By JOE CRUMP

SEN. PERCY 'WATCHDOGS' HAVE BECOME LAPDOGS

SENATOR CHARLES H. PERCY (Ill.)...I would like to comment on the CONSUMER PROTECTION AGENCY legislation, reported out of the Government Operations Committee. This would not have been possible without the complete cooperation of the members of that committee on both sides of the aisle, and both our former chairman, Senator John McClellan, and the present Chairman, Sam Ervin.
"After 2 months of intensive consideration, the Government Operations Committee by a 14 to 2 vote reported a landmark consumer protection bill to the Senate.
"This action should be taken as a signal to government and industry that the day of the consumer is finally at hand...
"Yesterday's action practically assures that a consumer protection bill will emerge from this Congress. The bill, similar to an administration-backed version approved 344 to 44 by the House last October, creates a CONSUMER PROTECTION AGENCY which would be authorized to:
"Represent consumer interests as an equal party before Federal agencies and courts in formal and informal proceedings, including those where fines, penalties, or forfeitures are involved.
"Represent consumer interests in proceedings before State or local courts or agencies, when requested to do so by the agency or court involved.

"Make grants to States, localities, and nonprofit private groups to encourage and assist their consumer programs and activities...
"This legislation does not tip the scales for the consumer or against business. It is needed because the regulatory agencies Congress has set up to protect the consumer have simply not been doing the job. Too often in the past, agencies established as watchdogs for the public interest have become lapdogs for private interests.
"The Senate bill also establishes a three-member Council of Consumer Advisors in the Executive Office of the President, which would replace the present OFFICE OF CONSUMER AFFAIRS...
"The Council would not be involved in daily operations, such as handling consumer complaints or publishing consumer education material. Those functions, now performed by the Office of Consumer Affairs would be taken over by the Consumer Protection Agency...
"The Senate passed similar legislation in December 1970 by 74 to 4 margin, and I trust the upcoming vote will be at least as overwhelming."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT
News of ANOTHER government agency chills the taxpayers. They can be encouraged however, to learn that it will REPLACE an established government agency.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

If you need an operation but have no hospital insurance, you might get the following bright idea: take out insurance first, then have the operation.
Obviously, the insurance companies would not like this sort of thing. To prevent it, health insurance policies often say you are not covered for a "pre-existing" illness—that is, an illness you already had when you bought the insurance.
But when does a disease really begin? Fixing a specific date is not always easy. In one sense, in terms of latent susceptibility, a disease may be traced all the way back to birth. As a poetic judge once put it:
"The seeds of death are sown when the first breath of life is drawn."
But the law generally dates a disease from the time when "discoverable symptoms" first appear. Take the case of a woman who had a gall bladder operation. The insurance company refused to pay her expenses, because she had had occasional stomach pains before taking out the policy.
"Those pains," argued the company in a court hearing, "mean she must have already had gall bladder trouble at that time. Therefore, it was 'pre-existing'."
But the court disagreed and upheld the woman's claim. The judge said mere pain was not a clear enough signal of what she had.
Suppose the disease is already known and simply gets worse. That usually is not covered.
One man had cataracts when he bought a disability insurance policy. His sight gradually faded, and he finally became blind. Was this a pre-existing condition, excluded from his insurance coverage?
A court said it was indeed, because the blindness was a natural, foreseeable development of an ailment he already knew he had.

Some people can really talk you to death.

Drivers who insist on facing their audience while they talk—instead of the road ahead—can be deadly bores. Even their funny stories can turn tragic in a hurry. A punch line can be killed instantly by a car that stops suddenly, an intersection, a curve in the road. By anything that gets in the way.
No one is safe with drivers like this. Neither passengers or people in other cars...nor pedestrians. If you know someone who has this deadly habit, think about the consequences.
Straighten him out or refuse to ride with him. Your new car dealer wants to see our highways safe. And more important, he wants to see you safe, whether you're behind the wheel or just a passenger.

So join the battle against careless talkers. Help them face their tremendous responsibilities—and the road ahead—and all their stories will wind up with a happy ending.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

What's the biggest communicable disease problem in Texas today?

Diphtheria? Polio? Measles? Rubella?

These are serious diseases and are distinct threats if the immunization levels decline. But the ones getting highest priorities in Texas and the nation right now are venereal diseases, says your State Health Department.

If that comes as a surprise, there's a reason. VD is something people are unaccustomed to talking about. It has always been there, silently exacting its toll as a dangerouscrippler and killer. But venereal disease was and is a silent epidemic. There are no preventive vaccines to take for syphilis and gonorrhea, so the diseases keep occurring -- and spreading under a mantle of secrecy, fear and social stigma.

The Texas State Department of Health, with federal assistance, has started a state-wide public awareness campaign to let the public know what is happening -- and what can be done about it.

In addition to public service advertisements in the state's local newspapers, and a radio and television campaign, the State Health Department plans to conduct a series of seminars or conferences.

The first conference for health professionals and community officials is scheduled September 20-21 at the Royal Coach Inn in Dallas. It is jointly sponsored by the State Health Department and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas. All participants will be provided with an information kit, a distillation of the most current authoritative literature put together by the American Social Health Association.

The seminar is a high-level one, with separate symposiums for physicians and pharmacists. The program is accepted, hour for hour, for a maximum of 15 1/2 elective hours by the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Keynote speaker at the conference will be Dr. J. D. Miller, chief of the Venereal Disease Branch of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Miller supervises the federal VD control effort and will explain how the massive, new national VD control program affects Texas communities.

Several other federal officials will also address the conference.

Texas does have a problem, along with the other 49 states in the nation.

In 1971, for example, the number of reported new cases of syphilis and gonorrhea in Texas exceeded 55,000. But that figure is just the tip of the iceberg. Experience shows that only about one in five cases is actually reported to health officials.

Last year in the United States the number of reported gonorrhea cases exceeded 624,000, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. In this country it is estimated that there are a half-million cases of syphilis infecting people who don't even know they have it.

The awareness campaign has several purposes, but there are two or three major ones. First, the extent of the problem must be made clear to everyone, along with the knowledge that VD can happen to anyone. Secondly, the campaign will emphasize the method of transmission -- from one infected person to another person through intimate contact. And, thirdly, it will stress the necessity for immediate treatment should disease symptoms appear.

Early diagnosis, early treatment and good epidemiology in tracing VD to its source are three essentials in curbing this VD epidemic, says the State Health Department.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Now's The Time To Hit Bollworm

By Bill McCutchen

Increasing populations of the cotton pink bollworm have been reported from the San Gabriel, Ben Arnold and Burlington areas of Milam County.

The only economical and practical control of pink bollworms is with cultural control practices, and harvest time is the time to hit this pest hard.

The pink bollworm is the only major cotton pest that overwinters in the larvae stage in old bolls and cotton locaks left in the field or seed taken from the field. The grown larvae is pinkish in color, giving it the common name "pink bollworm". As bolls develop, the larvae cuts paths through immature lint and feeds on the seed.

Populations of this pest are naturally lowest during the winter months and cultural control measures are designed to increase larvae mortality during this time.

I would suggest:

1. Early harvest
2. Prompt and thorough stalk destruction following harvest
3. Plow under all crop residue to a depth of 6 inches.
4. Destroy all green boll piles left at turn rows after stripping.
5. Clean up and gin all seed cotton.
6. Keep soil moisture as high as possible.
7. Observe stalk destruction deadlines established by the Texas Department of Agriculture.
8. Plant early and uniformly.

These practices will also help in weevil control. Some cotton fields will not be harvested because of excessive weevil and pink bollworm damage. These fields need to be destroyed as soon as possible to reduce the insect food supply.

SODSEEDING CAN WORK

Sodseeding can provide high-quality winter grazing during late fall and winter.

Sodseeding, in this area would mean seeding Gulf-ryegrass in a coastal bermuda patch for winter pasture.

Attempts at sodseeding in this area have ranged from good to failure. Failures can be traced back to late planting; excessive amount of coastal growth, and inadequate amounts of fertilization.

This practice could be helpful to producers who don't have sufficient land to plant small grains in the conventional manner.

If you wish to try sodseeding here are a few guidelines:

1. Remove warm season forage by September 15 to 30. Graze pasture short, shred, or harvest for hay.
2. Scarify the soil. A light disking is beneficial and does not damage a bermuda sod at this time of year. Two light diskings may be necessary to expose some bare soil.
3. Fertilize initially with 40-80-0 in blackland or 40-80-80 in sand.
4. Plant 20 to 25 pounds Gulf ryegrass.
5. When ryegrass has germinated and is competing satisfactorily with the disked coastal (usually about mid-October) apply 80-0-0 to hasten ryegrass growth.
6. When ryegrass begins to grow, graze lightly to enhance tillering.
7. Withhold heavy grazing until late December or early January.
8. Use limited grazing. Graze warm season pastures in conjunction with sod seeded pasture.

This practice will work if you will follow these recommendations closely. If you try to cheat on planting dates, soil preparation, or fertilization you will be disappointed with your results.

Earth Resources Satellite May Help Study Agriculture

Two Texas A&M University researchers will participate in a nation-wide project to see if a newly launched satellite, designed to study earth resources, can help agriculture.

They are Dr. John W. Rouse, Jr., Remote Sensing Center director and professor of electrical engineering, and Dr. Edward A. Hiler of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and associate professor of agricultural engineering.

Cornell University will coordinate the study. The satellite, orbited last July 23 by NASA, is called the Earth Resources Technology Satellite (ERTS-1).

The project, funded by a $500,000 grant, will test the satellite as a tool to study seasonal and geographic progression of foliage development and its relation to agricultural production. Facilities of 18 agricultural experiment stations across the country will be used.

Researchers will try to develop methods of identifying phenological changes, the relation of periodic biological events to seasonal climatic changes.

The ERTS satellite registers vegetative development with a series of cameras as it passes over each of the experimental sites every 18 days. The system will record the "green wave," the northward progression of leaf development in the spring, and the "brown wave," the north to south advance of leaf coloration and leaf fall in the autumn.

Rouse and Hiler said the idea is to use the information as predictors in the scheduling of agricultural and forestry management practices.

They said that in the future, growers may use such data to time planting of crops, determine the best period for weed and pest control, foresee advancing droughts, and guide cattle grazing on permanent pastures.

Data will be gathered from four regional corridors --- Appalachian Mountains, the Mississippi Valley, the Rocky Mountains and the Columbia River Valley. About 30 ground stations have been set up along these sites so that satellite observations can be correlated with ground observations.

Cotton Harvest Report

Sample receipts increased as fair weather allowed harvesting to progress at a rapid pace in most of the area serviced by the Austin Cotton Classing Office, reports J. B. Russ, Officer in Charge.

According to the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, the Winter Garden and Upper Coastal Bend areas are approximately 80 percent harvested, and the Taylor area is about 55 percent gathered. Harvesting operations in the Waco - Temple, Crockett, and Brazos River Bottom areas are less than 25 percent complete.

Quality statistics for the week ending September 8 show 15 percent of the cotton was classed as Strict Low Middling compared to 23 percent the previous week. Thirty-eight percent Strict Low Middling Light Spotted was up 5 percentage points from last week, and 25 percent Low Middling Light Spotted was up 6 percentage points.

Twenty-four percent of the cotton classed was reduced in grade due to bark or grass compared to 16 percent the previous week. The staple lengths showed 31 percent staple compared to 25 percent the last week, and 22 percent staple 34 or longer was down 15 percentage points from the previous week. The remainder of the staple lengths were about the same as the previous week.

The micronaire readings improved with 81 percent of the cotton reading in the desirable range of 3.5-4.9 and 17 percent read 5.0 and above.

Nettles were imported into Britain by Roman soldiers who used the plant as protection against the cold winters. The legionnaires rubbed the stinging leaves on their shivering bodies to stimulate circulation.

SCS News

Cooperators of Soil and Water Conservation Districts should devote attention to the condition of their existing waterways.

Recent rains have caused considerable erosive damage to some existing waterways.

Plans should be made now for any necessary maintenance needed on waterways.

Fertilizer should be applied to all waterways that don't have a complete sod cover. The fertilizer rate should be increased above the normal rate for pastureland. Fertilization responds quickly when moisture and temperature are at the proper level.

Cooperators who have waterways planned have a good opportunity for shaping and sodding. Some counties restrict summer and fall grass sodding due to the hazards of dry weather and winter killing.

Soil Conservation Service technicians will be glad to furnish information on planting dates, sodding rates, fertilizer needs and seed-bed preparation methods.

Cost share payment is available to help cooperators shape and sod waterways. Apply at your County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office for the cost share payment.

Grass waterways serves as safe outlets for terraces and to transport outside water safely across cropland to a safe outlet.

Waterways after well established could serve as a habitat for quail and other wildlife, for grazing or hay production.

Information and assistance is available at the local Soil Conservation Service on waterway maintenance and to help plan and apply grassed waterways where needed.

Peanut Field Day Set At Yoakum

YOAKUM

The annual Peanut Field Day at the Texas A&M University Plant Disease Research Station at Yoakum has been slated for September 28. Activities will get under way at 1 p.m., announce Dr. Arthur Harrison and Dr. Thurman Boswell, plant pathologists for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The research station is located two miles east of Yoakum on State Highway 111.

Featured on the field tour will be breeding studies for improved varieties and disease resistance, herbicide tests for controlling weeds, nematode control, rotation studies, and the use of soil fumigation and soil fungicides.

Special emphasis will be given to Cercospora leaf spot, a costly and widespread peanut disease. Information will also be presented on several new peanut diseases in South Texas.

In addition to the tour, field day visitors will also be able to view displays on peanut diseases and insects and various cultural practices. Some equipment will also be on display.

Specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and research scientists for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will be on hand to discuss various aspects of peanut production and to answer questions.

USDA Airs Stockyard Charges

Alvin Braun, operator of the Georgetown Commission Company, a posted stockyard at Georgetown, Tex., has been charged with violating trust account and record-keeping requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration charged in an administrative complaint that Braun, from Feb. 29 through April 29, 1972, failed to properly maintain his trust account for shippers' proceeds; and failed to keep complete accounts and records which correctly disclosed all transactions involved in his market agency business under the Act.

Market agencies are required under P & S regulations to properly maintain trust accounts for proceeds from the sale of consigned livestock. This is designed as a measure of financial protection for sellers.

Filing of a complaint does not prove Mr. Braun has violated the P&S Act, and he has a right to a hearing to determine if the evidence supports the charges. If the charges are proven, Mr. Braun could be placed under a cease and desist order, and his registration temporarily suspended.

Farm Prices Show Slight Drop... Turkey Production Declines... Five Counties Added to Fire Ant Control Area... Food and Fiber Pavilion Readied...

Prices received by farmers and ranchers as of the middle of August showed a seven point drop from a year ago. But prices are 18 percent above 1971.

All meat animals were down from a month ago, but were at higher levels compared to a year ago. Poultry and eggs were below a year ago. Milk prices were up; wool and mohair were unchanged from last month, but showed some increase from a year ago.

The all-crops index was up four percent from a year ago. The majority of field crops were down from last year with the exception of wheat, rice, potatoes, and cotton which were above last year.

Only one farm commodity--calves--was above full effective parity. Cotton, for example, has a parity of 55.16 cents per pound. The price average was 30 cents per pound. Grain sorghum price averaged $2.08, but the parity is $3.33 per hundredweight.

Wheat averaged $1.55 compared with $1.38 a year ago.

LIVESTOCK prices included: hogs averaged $27.70 with full parity at $30.60. Beef cattle parity is $36.80; average price was $33.20. Calf parity is $44.20; average price received by farmers was $44.20.

Parity price for eggs is 44.9 cents per dozen; average price to Texas producers was 34 cents per dozen.

TURKEY production in Texas is expected to be four percent under the 1971 levels, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reports. The current crop is estimated at 8,015,000 birds compared with 8,378,000 raised last year. Texas is now the sixth ranked state in turkey production.

Nationwide, turkey production is expected to be higher by seven percent this year compared to last year. Minnesota is the number one turkey producing state in the nation with an expected 20,700,000 birds this season.

FIVE Texas counties have been added to federal regulations relating to the imported fire ant control program. The counties are Nueces, Smith, Trinity, Victoria and Walker.

A total of 36 counties in Texas are now under federal regulations relating to fire ant control. They are located primarily in the coastal bend area of the state.

RED MEAT production in Texas and the nation has shown declines from a year ago. In Texas, commercial slaughtering plants reported a one percent decline in red meat production; nationwide, commercial production of red meat is down 11 percent. Commercial meat production includes slaughter in federally inspected and other slaughter plants, but excludes animals slaughtered on farms.

FOOD and Fiber Pavilion at the State Fair of Texas will highlight Texas agricultural production as well as acquainting Texans with the quality of these products. The pavilion is under the direction of the Texas Department of Agriculture personnel. About 1,500,000 Texans are expected to visit the pavilion this year.

Guam Base Houses Crews For Indochina Bombing

By Roland Dallas

AGANA, Guam
America's massive bombing raids of Indochina are staged from a huge base here housing about 16,500 crewmen and families. More than 100 eight-engined B-52s are stationed at Andersen Air Force Base and 50 others are based at U-Tapao, Thailand, according to military sources. The camouflaged, airliner-size warplanes wait in long and awesome rows alongside the main runway to be loaded with bombs weighing a total of 60,000 pounds.

The U. S. Air Force refuses to say how many missions leave Andersen every day but the bombers appear to be either landing or taking off on their 12-hour round-trip flight to Indochina every 15 minutes.

"The flight is a bore," says a civilian who recently rode a B-52 to South Vietnam and back. "And it can be uncomfortable. It's cramped and there is no toilet."

"The B-52 is designed for bombs and not much else," he added.

There are six crewmen - pilot, co-pilot, electronic warfare officer, bombardier, navigator and rear gunner.

Most of the time in the air, they discuss women, world affairs, baseball and life on this tiny and remote Pacific island - or take turns sleeping.

When they reach their target area, verified by an air-to-ground radar, they release their bombs and start the monotonous journey back - often without knowing what, if anything, they have hit.

The flight is completely safe. Only surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) can reach the altitude of B-52s and they are neutralized by the plane's radar - jamming equipment, according to the Air Force.

Capt. Bruce Fagaley, the base spokesman, denies North Vietnamese claims to have shot down several B-52s. He says none have been hit.

The crews fly two or three missions to Indochina a week and usually spend their rest periods at one of this base's wide range of facilities.

There are three movie theaters, one operating 24 hours a day, two churches, three swimming pools, a department store and a supermarket, an AM-FM radio station, a nine-hole golf course, a taxi service and a bowling alley, as well as several baseball diamonds, football fields, tennis and softball courts and the best palm-fringed beach of the island.

Andersen's huge demand for 500 and 750-pound bombs is supplied by the U. S. Navy, which unloads them in nearby Apra harbor and delivers them on flatbed trucks that drive regularly through the center of tiny Agana, the sleepy island capital.

The Navy is planning to move its base, partly on the grounds that if a bomb-carrying ship blew up in the harbor, it might destroy parts of Agana, military sources said.

Folklife Festival A Full Weekend

(Cindy Matula, a junior at Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos, covered the Texas Folklife Festival held last weekend at San Antonio, for her journalism class. Her account follows.)

By Cindy Matula

Texans from all over and visitors from many states gathered in San Antonio in a fun-filled celebration described as "an old-time, high-heeled Texas shindig."

This was the first statewide Texas Folklife Festival, held September 7-10, celebrated on the grounds of the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures, HemisFair Plaza.

The festival brought to life the traditional ways of Texans of all races and national origins have had fun throughout their history. It highlighted the historic arts and crafts, music and dance, food, games and costumes which are a heritage of our culture.

Many Texans enjoyed the special entertainment provided in their own locations. Dancing was the major activity at the Festival. Many watched with interest the colorful costumed groups dancing their traditional steps. Such outstanding entertainment was that of Cameron's German Folk dancers.

The Cameron folk group was one of 20 ethnic groups performing or featured.

The group stayed at the Palacio del Rio overlooking the San Antonio River. Following two performances Saturday and some time as visitors Sunday, the German group packed up and left for Cameron.

WAITING TO DANCE - Mrs. Shirley Crook and Kathy Matula await their turn to do their dances with the Cameron German Folk Dancers at the Texas Folklife Festival at San Antonio last weekend. Only 20 groups were invited from all over the state to appear at the festival, the first of its kind for Texas.

St. Monica Ladies Plan Projects

St. Monica's Ladies Society made plans for a District Deanery meeting luncheon in October, a 4-H Awards banquet, a Project Adopt meeting and other projects during their September 5 meeting.

Father John Geiser opened the meeting with a prayer.

Mrs. Harold Moore, Mrs. Joe Mueck and Mrs. Lawrence Zoltz were appointed chairmen for luncheon to be held October 3 at Simon George Hall in conjunction with the District Deanery meeting being held in Cameron.

Plans for serving the 4-H Awards Banquet on October 14 were discussed and Mrs. Edward Macal was named chairman of the planning committee and Mrs. Elaine Perrin, co-chairman.

Mrs. Edward Macal announced that Project Adopt will be held at St. Monica's Parish on Sunday, September 24. Mrs. Lawrence Zoltz, Father Benish and Father Geiser will attend the project planning meetings.

Members also discussed purchasing a vacuum cleaner for the church.

Following the business meeting Father Geiser spoke about participating in special prayers for youth of the parish held after masses on the second Sunday of the month.

'The Good Earth' Is Garden Club Theme

Members of the Fleur de Lis Garden Club got a head start on spring gardens Tuesday night when they built a 'community' compost at the T. H. Wardlaw ranch.

The project Tuesday night was the opening of the Garden Club year which will follow the program theme "The Good Earth."

Programs through the year will emphasize planting and enjoying the outdoors. A workshop on dried arrangements is scheduled for the October meeting and a picnic at Sugar Loaf Mountain and tour of the McDaniel ranch in November.

An antilitter skit is planned for the Club's December meeting with programs on planting terrariums and planting spring bulbs in January and February.

A workshop is scheduled in March in preparation for the April flower show, "Back To The 60's". The Club year will close with a salad supper in May.

Program chairmen for the compost project Tuesday night were Mrs. T.H. Wardlaw, Mrs. Dan McDaniel and Mrs. James Camp.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Durwood Cobb, Club president, announced the Fleur de Lis Garden Club award winning Christmas '71 flower show schedule will be displayed at the Autumn Garden Club convention.

In other business Mrs. William Kelm was appointed treasurer.

Coffee, tea and almond cake were served to members and one guest, Mrs. Larry Coker, following the meeting.

Art Show At Salado

An exhibition of paintings by members of the Coppini Academy of Fine Arts has opened at the Longhorn Room in Salado, Texas, sponsored by the Central Texas Area Museum. Sister Alice Spice Cake Symbol Of Shaker Oven

"Made with compassion" . . . "having restorative powers" . . . "of the highest quality." Phrases from a Shaker manual on the communities' lifestyle and beliefs?

Actually, these phrases describe the spices used in making Sister Alice's Spice Cake—a luscious example of the outstanding riches which came from the New England ovens of the Shaker kitchen sisters.

SISTER ALICE'S SPICE CAKE

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg

1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Condensed Tomato Soup
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs
3/4 cup water
1 cup plumped raisins

Preheat oven to 350°F. Generously grease and flour shallow baking pan (13x9x2"). Measure dry ingredients into large bowl. Add soup and shortening. Beat at low to medium speed for 2 minutes (300 strokes with a spoon) scraping sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add eggs and water. Beat 2 minutes more, scraping bowl frequently. Fold in raisins. Pour into pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes. Let stand in pan 10 minutes; remove and cool on rack.

MARSHMALLOW CREAM TOPPING

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened

Town And Country Church Conference Set At A&M

"The Bold New Challenge in Town and Country Churches" is the overall theme of the 27th annual Town and Country Church Conference Oct. 12-13, at Texas A&M University.

Program Chairman David Ruesink, sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said discussions will center on ways rural ministers can perform more effectively in today's fast-changing rural scene.

Activities start with registration at 8 a.m. in the Memorial Student Center. Keynote speaker is Dr. Barlin Nelson, A&M sociology professor. His subject is "Systemic Analysis of the Challenge."

Other topics are "Managing Time and Resources," by Kenneth Wolf, Extension Economist - agribusiness; "Pastoral Counseling," by Kenneth Pepper, director, Pastoral Counseling Center, Greater Dallas Council of Churches; and "The Changing Scene," James Copp, A&M's head of the Sociology and Anthropology Department.

Also, "The Home and the Family in the Changing Scene," Florence Low, Extension Service assistant director for home economics; "The Texas Agricultural Extension Service Can Help You with Community Resource Development," Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service associate director; and "Just Don't Stand There," by Reagan Brown, Extension sociologist.

A banquet is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 12 at which Charlie Scruggs, executive editor of "The Progressive Farmer" magazine, will present the Rural Minister of the Year Award. Banquet speaker is Will Erwin, deputy under secretary for rural development, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The non-denominational conference is planned by a committee of interdenominational ministers and the Town and Country Church Committee of A&M. It is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and is conducted by the A&M Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology.

Ruesink said rural and small town ministers have found the conference to be unique and helpful. Ministers of all faiths are invited to attend.

Safety Projects Initiated

AUSTIN

Work totalling nearly $6 million was initiated by the Texas Highway Department for highway safety improvement projects during the months of May, June and July. This brings to $218 million the amount of purely safety-oriented work since 1965.

These safety projects were selected for their potential to reduce accidents and the severity of accidents rather than to increase traffic capacity or general traffic serviceability. These projects are in addition to normal increased safety features involved in new construction and reconstruction.

During the three-month period, the Highway Department accepted bids on 14 contracts and initiated work on 68 projects involving departmental labor. In addition, bids were accepted on 14 Federal Aid projects which involved safety improvement work.

Of the total three-month figure for financing these projects, Dingwall said that the Federal government contributed $580 thousand while the Texas Highway Department provided $5.3 million.

He explained that the Highway Department, with the cooperation of the Department of Public Safety, keeps track of areas that have high accident rates. When it has been determined that special precautions -- such as traffic signals, special non-skid pavement, left turn lanes or safety lighting -- might prove of value in stemming the number of accidents in that area, the Department initiates planning for whatever safety devices might be required.

95 Is Number For Induction

AUSTIN

Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas has announced that the Lottery Number Cut-Off for induction of non-volunteers for the remainder of the year is 95.

The Department of Defense has asked for 15,900 men from all states to be inducted during the last three months of 1972. This will require raising the Lottery Number for induction from 75 in September to 95 for the last quarter of the year.

Glantz said projections indicate that approximately 1,100 men will be inducted in Texas during the last three months of this year.

Survival

Medieval knights felt invincible when they strode forth to battle in a suit of armor. Unfortunately, more protection meant less mobility. Finally armor became so cumbersome that it was relegated to museums—the useless antique was discarded—not the man under the metal coverall. He had to adapt to the change!

How many of our ideas and customs have become useless? The world is not static and even some values change. What we cherish must be genuine. That goes for Faith, too. A shallow faith cannot survive the twentieth century—or any era for that matter. But the Christian faith is not superficial, or outmoded! It survives, and continues to reach millions each Sunday—proof that Christianity is not destined for the museum.

Eighth Grade Downs Taylor

The Cameron 8th grade defeated the Taylor 8th grade last Thursday by a score of 18-0.

The first touchdown came in the first quarter when Aaron Miller broke off tackle for a 34 yard score. The half ended with the Yoe Yoes ahead 6-0.

Miller scored again in the third quarter. Gregory Kelly also scored in the third quarter. The final score was 18-0 in favor of the Yoe Yoes.

Outstanding offense players were Aaron Miller, Caly Kruse, Donald Komar, Kelvin Kelley.

Outstanding defensive players were Valente Ramirez, Andrew Bailey, Thomas Canizales, and Gary Heitman.

The Yoe Yoes will go to Rockdale Thursday for their second game of the year. Seventh grade game will start at 6 p.m. and the 8th grade at 7:30.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh grade team played Taylor Thursday and the game ended in a tie, 6-6.

Bobby Burton scored on an 83 yard bootleg play for the only score for Cameron. Nathan Kimbrel intercepted two passes for the Cameron team.

Also outstanding on defense were Mike Knight, Gary Lewis and John Schmidt.

Aggie C'back Recruited Twice

Texas A&M senior cornerback Corky Sheffield is a rarity. He was recruited twice.

The 5-10, 180 - pounder from Duncanville came to A&M in 1968 after a distinguished high school career as a running back and defensive back. He lettered as a sophomore in 1969, then dropped out of football.

"Football just wasn't interesting anymore. I felt I'd be happier not playing," Sheffield remembers.

Then he heard coach Emory Ballard speak at a Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce meeting in January. "I was really fired up," Sheffield said. "I liked the coach and I liked the new system. So I asked coach Ballard if I could come back out, and he said to come ahead."

It didn't take Sheffield long to establish himself as the No. 1 left cornerback in the spring.

When the Aggies take the field, Sheffield thinks some people are going to be surprised at the Aggie secondary. Sheffield doesn't believe the talk that the defensive backfield will be A&M's weak point. "I think we'll have a good secondary. After the first two scrimmages, the coaches said that the secondary was the strongest part of the defense."

Badgers Upset Eagles

The Buckholts Badger schedule for the 1972 season is:

Sept. 15, Open
Sept. 22, Milford T
Sept. 30, Aquilla H
Oct. 6, Abbott T
Oct. 13, Open
Oct. 20, Milano T
Oct. 27, Salado H
Nov. 3, Oglesby T
Nov. 10, Jarrell T
Nov. 17, Jonesboro H

The Buckholts Badgers upset the Milano Eagles Friday night on Badger Field with a score of 25 to 24.

The scoring began when Eagle Mike Alford intercepted a Badger pass and raced his way to the Badger endzone.

On the start of the second quarter, with Milano having possession of the ball, Mike Williams fought his way down the field for a 42 yds. touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

But then the Badgers started a drive of their own with a 32 yd. touchdown by Larry Orsag.

Milano then came back with two consecutive touchdowns by Mike Williams. With seconds left in the first-half, Badger member Glenn Roesler caught a scoring touchdown pass for Buckholts. The firsthalf ended with the score - Milano 24, Buckholts 12.

The second half scoring belonged all to the Badgers. Dale Walzel made the only two touchdowns of the third quarter. Two touchdowns would have tied the score but the Badgers united for an extra point attempt, with Larry Orsag throwing a pass to receiver Dale Walzel to put the Badgers ahead 25-24. With no scoring in the final quarter, the Badgers left the field with the thrill of victory.

The Badgers will be up against Milford next. That date is Friday Sept. 22. The game will be at Milford.

DOORS OF YOE

By Marilyn Hauk

Congratulations to the Yoemen on their victory over the Taylor Ducks Friday night!

If you ever happen to pass by the coach's office on a Saturday morning, be very cautious about walking in. Even a friendly "Come In" is not always safe.

Passing by Mrs. Burke's shorthand class may resemble a trip back to the first grade. Learning the symbols is like learning a whole new alphabet. It is quite unusual to hear Juniors and Seniors chanting "M-A-N - man; H-O-T - hot."

himself. In fact, back there in 1947, when he had a Tyler Junior College room-mate, named Tom Murray, the Silsbee genius answered only to Stud McGallion. The hard-running, explosive tackling McGallion (He was a Full-back - linebacker) had left "Ray" back home in Silsbee Grammar School. Aggie Linebacking Great Grady Hoerrman sez Emory Bellard's defense will be so good. "We're going to wear ourselves out running on and off the field."

OH, THOSE FROSH-

Kirbyville Komet Bubba Bean, a mere Babe, slashed his way right onto the Aggie Starting team, then proceeded to whomp Wichita. Well, he may not be the only frosh to hit it big. Galveston Ball's Kerry Jackson is Oklahoma's Number Two Quarterback and Gregory - Portland Whiz Kid Marty Akins could be Darrell Royal's UT Backup Wishbone OB, behind Alan Lowry. Lou Maysel, the Austin American - Statesman Sports Editor, does not feel Recruiters will have a leg to stand on if they tell Super Schoolboy running cacks, "You can't make it at Texas." In answer to a question about Texas' 1972 prospects, Maysel said, "Very, very average running backs." Apparently, if D. K. Royal had any Freshmen who could haul it, they would be on the varsity.

QUICKIES:

Young Oilier Quarterback Dan Pastorini told a Houston writer, "I've never played second fiddle in my life to anyone and I don't plan to start now." Don't worry, Danny Boy, age does wonders for a lack of humility. The 6-4-1 log of '71 was only the second winning TCU football season in the last nine campaigns. Frank Howard says his old Alabama coach was so mean, he would give his captain 10 laps if he lost the coin toss. Jimmy Sewell, son of Harley Sewell, the UT All-America and Detroit All-Pro guard, is a split-end at Arlington High. Dizzy Dean, describing the one-time pitching artistry of Big League Umpire Tom Gorman, "He threw a curveball so slow, left-handed; that you had to run along and push to get it up to the plate."

It takes more than memories to make it from day to day.

Someday you'll be old. When you are, you'll find that though you can taste memories, you can't eat them. Though memories can give you a warm feeling, they aren't shelter from the cold.

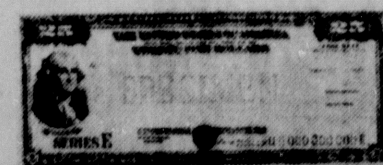

There's no substitute for money when you're old. And you can have that money if you start building your nest egg now, while you're still feeling young.

One of the very basic things you can do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. Buying U.S. Savings Bonds this way makes saving almost painless.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/4% when held to maturity of 5 years 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/4%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Start your savings plan now. And may all your memories be happy ones.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.
